Hey everyone! We're fresh off a high from doing one of our Human Jukebox Nights! at McMenamins Anderson School in Bothell, WA, and we thought we would keep the energy going by getting the word out about our other upcoming events in the Seattle area.

Being a self-promoted, entirely-DIY band is an Herculean endeavor. We book and manage our own gigs; write, record, and produce our music; and do our best to communicate it all to the people who vibe with our message and sound. As such, it has taken us far too long to get this newsletter together, but we are so happy to finally have a way to share what we are getting up to with you wonderful folks.

No doubt, this newsletter will change over time, but our intentions will remain the same: to share our love of music and connect with those who feel deeply and love with their full heart. If you have any thoughts on what you'd like to hear from us, please reach out any time.
